Adult day care centers, also known as adult day services, have been providing a form of relief for caregivers for more than twenty years. In 1978 there were only 300 centers nationwide. By the 1980s there were 2,100 centers, and today there are about 4,000 centers nationwide, according to the National Adult Day Services Association (NADSA). NADSA reports that the need for such centers has “jumped sharply to keep pace with the mushrooming demand for home and community based services”

Adult day care centers provide a break to the caregiver while providing health services, therapeutic services, and social activities for people with Alzheimer’s disease and related dementia, chronic illnesses, traumatic brain injuries, developmental disabilities, and other problems that increase their care needs. Some adult day care centers are dementia specific, providing services exclusively to that population, while other centers serve the broader population. One difference between traditional adult respite, both group and in-home care, and adult day care is that adult day centers not only provide respite to family caregivers but also therapeutic care of cognitively and physically impaired older adults.

Assisted Living Directory

http://www.healthcarehiring.com/assisted-living/kansas/0/

Program Description: Assisted Living usually refers to a facility that is used by people who are not able to live on their own, but do not need the level of care that a nursing home offers. People who live in assisted living facilities usually have their own apartment. However, there is a central social area and a central kitchen and dining area. The central dining facility also allows for visiting with others without having to leave home. This generally reduces the isolation that elderly, disabled, or handicapped people suffer when living alone and who are afraid (usually for physical reasons) to leave their homes.

Program Description: The Landon Center on Aging is a state-funded interdisciplinary center that conducts, sponsors and supports the development of educational, clinical, and research programs related to aging. Most Center activities are carried out in partnership with other academic units of the Medical Center campus, including the schools of Allied Health, Medicine, and Nursing, and with affiliated institutions, such as area geriatric care centers, VA Medical Centers in Leavenworth and Kansas City, the Wichita branch of the School of Medicine, the University of Kansas in Lawrence, state agencies, and service organizations.

Kansas ranks eleventh among states in percentage of persons aged 65 and older--13.8 percent compared to 12.5 percent for the U.S. as a whole. Kansas ranks fifth among states in the percentage of persons aged 85 and older. By the year 2010, the Census Bureau projects that 15.3 percent of Kansans will be aged 65 or older, and that the state will be among the 10 most "aged" in the U.S.

Aware of such demographic realities, a legislative mandate directed the development of a concentrated, multidisciplinary educational, clinical, and research program to address the significant biological, physical, and social issues associated with the aging process. As a result of that mandate, the Center on Aging has been in operation since 1986.

Community Outreach: The Landon Center on Aging is committed to improving the quality of life in older adults and the people who care for them through education delivered in layman’s terms and service meeting real needs. In partnership with local and regional agencies and organizations, many programs are offered at the Landon Center that equip older adults and their families with the tools to lead healthier, more productive lives.

Program Description: P.A.N.D.A. is an acronym for Prevent Abuse and Neglect through Dental Awareness. It is the name of an educational program sponsored by Delta Dental Plan of Kansas. P.A.N.D.A. is supported by a coalition of public and private organizations and is aimed at helping dental office personnel recognize and report suspected cases of child abuse and neglect.

State law mandates dentists and dental hygienists, along with other health care professionals, to report suspected cases of abuse and neglect. Nationally, up to 65% of child abuse injuries involve the head, face, neck, and mouth areas, which are routinely observed by dental professionals.

Studies have indicated that dentists are nearly five times as likely to report suspected abuse if they receive education in this area. The P.A.N.D.A. program addresses these issues so that dental personnel will have the information they need in suspected cases of child abuse and neglect.
Program Description: Sunflower House, a child abuse prevention center and child advocacy center, is a non-profit, United Way agency serving Wyandotte and Johnson Counties in Kansas. The result of a successful merger between the Child Abuse Prevention Coalition, founded in 1977, and the Sunflower Children's Center, founded in 1994, Sunflower House is in a unique position to impact this leading deterrent to child health through three program initiatives: Education, Child Assessment & Medical. Sunflower House is a full member agency of the National Children's Alliance, our national affiliate that ensures adherence to best practice standards of its federally recognized and supported multidisciplinary approach to child abuse investigations. Sunflower House was recognized as the 2002 Outstanding Crime Victim Service Organization in Kansas by Attorney General Carla Stovall, and also awarded the 2002 Outstanding Organization at the Kansas Governor's Conference on Child Abuse and Neglect.

Programs Available:

A place for children to be interviewed and receive medical care after a report of child abuse has been made. Police and Child Protective Services/Social workers come in to talk with the children in the safe and child-centered locations.

Education [http://www.sunflowerhouse.org/education/index.html]

Sunflower House looks forward to the opportunity to educate people in our community about child abuse and how to prevent it. We provide trainings to educators, parents, professionals and companies. The trainings include: child abuse and neglect, Stewards of Children, Abusive Head Trauma (Shaken Baby Syndrome) Prevention Presentation, Keeping Kids Safe Online and P.S. It's My Body!
Children
Program Description: The Injury Free Coalition for Kids is among the country's fastest growing and most effective injury prevention programs. We are a National Program of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation comprised of hospital-based, community-oriented programs, whose efforts are anchored in research, education, and advocacy. Currently, the coalition includes 40 sites located in 37 cities, each housed in the trauma centers of their participating institutions.

All of the sites are independent, physician-led programs driven by the Coalition's mission: preventing injury to children. While research determines where the injuries take place and which ones most prevalent and severe, most of the injuries addressed occur in urban environments, and Coalition members work to empower the diverse populations who live there. They do so by helping people to make their communities safer and they do it in a manner that is respectful of various cultures, beliefs, and lifestyles. Individual programs and interventions are as varied as the communities they serve. Hence, no two sites are the same.

All-Terrain Vehicle (ATV)
All terrain vehicles are popular off road vehicles used for a wide variety of work and recreational activities. Recently, the growing popularity of ATVs and the increasing size and power of the vehicles has led to concern over injury risk. The Consumer Produce Safety Commission estimates that ATVs result in more than 100,000 emergency department visits annually, including more than 30,000 injuries for children under 16 years. During the past decade, more than 200 children died annually due to injuries sustained on ATVs. Children make up a disproportionate number of ATV injuries.

Daycare Safety
Daycare provision is increasingly becoming a necessity for families across America. According to a 1997 study by the Consumer and Product Safety Commission, 13 million children were placed in daycare settings. During that same year it was reported that 31,000 children visited the emergency room due to injuries occurring in daycare and school settings. As more and more children attend daycare settings each day, there is an increasing concern for their safety.

Fire Safety Tips

Firearm Injury Prevention
Firearm Injury is a grave concern for pediatric caregivers. With over 80 million handguns and an estimated 250 million firearms overall in the United States, children every day are exposed to the possibility of these injuries. Although the problem has improved somewhat over the past decade, there are still approximately 10-12 firearm deaths daily to children under the age of 19. This correlates with over 11,000 deaths in people of all ages yearly.
There are many theories as to why our American society has spawned such a high risk environment for gun violence. Gun ownership is guaranteed by the 2nd Amendment and this immediately sets up for hard debate and fiery discussions when any type of control or restriction on gun purchases or ownership is even proposed. Informing yourself about the facts regarding gun ownership and the risk to kids usually avoids this contentiousness by stating simply that “Kids and Guns Don’t Mix.”

Home Safety

Motor Vehicle Safety

Playground Safety
The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) estimates that 205,860 children receive emergency department care for injuries that occurred on playground equipment. Seventy-six percent of these injuries happen on playground equipment in schools, daycare facilities and parks. Twenty-three percent of injuries occur on playground equipment designed for home use. One percent of injuries happen on homemade playground equipment, primarily rope swings.

Poison Prevention
A poison is anything that someone eats, drinks, breathes in, or gets in their eyes or on their skin that can cause illness or death; poisons can be solids, liquids, gases, or aerosols. Poisonings are a significant cause of injuries and deaths in the United States; millions of people are poisoned every year. Poisonings are the third leading cause of unintentional injury deaths as well as suicide deaths in the U.S.

Safe Teen Driving
Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for children ages 1 to 19. Of the approximate 7,500 children killed annually in motor vehicle crashes in the United States 6,000 of them are teenagers.

Sports Injury Prevention
Every day, millions of children and young adults participate in sports activities. They can range from track and field to football, swimming to soccer, and gymnastics to ice hockey. They can occur during organized competition or during unscheduled backyard play. Involvement in these athletic endeavors helps a child improve their physical fitness, their coordination, and it teaches them to learn about teamwork. However, with such vast numbers of involvement, parents and caregivers should recognize the potential injuries that their youth may incur due to participating.

According to the National Electronic Injury Surveillance System of the US Consumer Product Safety Commission, more than 3.5 million sports-related injuries, for children less than 15 years of age, are treated in hospitals and physician’s offices each year. This accounts for more than one-quarter of all emergency department injuries for children. As a result, sports injuries have been shown to cause an estimated health care cost (indirect and direct) of 1.3 billion dollars.

Water Safety

Wheeled Sports Safety
Bicycles, skateboards, scooters, and in-line skates are popular wheeled sporting activities among children and adolescents, and carry a significant risk for injury. Considerable evidence derived from research suggests that preventative strategies such as helmet use can prevent or decrease the severity of injury.
Program Description: Kansas Children’s Service League is a private, not-for-profit agency serving children and families with offices and affiliates throughout Kansas. Founded in 1893, The League provides a continuum of programs and services, advocates for children, and collaborates with other public and private agencies to increase effectiveness and promote efficiency and quality. The League's services and advocacy efforts focus on keeping children safe, families strong, and communities involved.

For over 110 years the Kansas Children's Service League has been giving our best to Kansas kids. Our early work, much like today, centered on finding homes for abandoned, abused, neglected or orphaned children. It stemmed from a then-radical belief that children grew up best in family homes, not in orphanages or homes for wayward children.

Later in the ‘40s, ’50s and ’60s our work turned to private adoptions of infants. Many Kansans today still trace their roots back to the League. By the 1970s we turned our attention to helping Kansans build strong families. Our merger at the League's century mark in 1993 with the Kansas Chapter of Prevent Child Abuse America cemented our position. Today we continue our efforts in education and prevention as well as helping kids who need a home. We are the statewide contractor for adoption services and sponsor a network of resource family foster homes delivering care and support to some of Kansas' most vulnerable children.

Program Description: Safe Kids Kansas Inc. is a Coalition of over 60 statewide and regional organizations and businesses dedicated to preventing unintentional injuries to Kansas children ages 0-14. Unfortunately, preventable injury remains the leading killer of Kansas children ages 1-14, taking more lives than any other cause including diseases, homicide and suicide. This year, one child in four will suffer a preventable injury that is serious enough to require medical attention. Safe Kids Kansas is a 501c (3) charitable organization and is affiliated with the National SAFE KIDS Campaign. The designated lead agency for Safe Kids Kansas is the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

Programs:

Child Care
http://www.kansassafekids.org/child_care.htm
Safe Kids Kansas reminds parents and caregivers to communicate with each other about safety recommendations, sleep positions, baby proofing, emergency planning, and expectations of care for the child. There is a Safe Sleep Tip sheet containing information and recommended safety guidelines for both parents and childcare providers on safe sleep environments. The information talks about sleep positions, danger of unaccustomed tummy sleeping, use of an approved crib or playpen and guidelines for adequate supervision.

Pedestrian
http://www.kdheks.gov/safekids/pedestrian.html
Pedestrian injury is the second leading cause of unintentional injury-related death among children in the United States ages 5 to 14. In Kansas, 43 percent of the children age 0-14 hospitalized for pedestrian injury were age 5-9 (1999 and 2000). Children cannot judge speed, distance or direction well and are easily distracted. Young children think that if they can see a car, the car can see them.

Walk Your Child to School Day is an annual state-wide safe pedestrian event targeting K-3 school-age children that encourages parents to teach children about pedestrian safety and to make communities aware of the difficulties and dangers children may face on their trip to school each day. Community Action Kits are made available to communities and schools wishing to participate in the event. Special events are held in various cities in the state and over 12,000 incentives are provided to participating students each year during the event. The event is usually held in October on International Walk Your Child To School Day.
Child Passenger
http://www.kdheks.gov/safekids/child_passenger.html
Motor Vehicle Crashes are the number one cause of unintentional injury-related death for children ages 0-14 in Kansas. Proper use of restraints greatly increases the chance of survival while decreasing the potential for injury. Unfortunately, in 2001, 85% of the Kansas children killed were not using safety belts or child safety seats. Observational surveys conducted in 2001 indicate that 48% of Kansas children ages 4-14 are still not protected by a booster seat or seat belt. Eight percent (8%) of Kansas children age 0-4 are still not protected by a child safety seat.

The BUCKLE UP program is designed to increase the number of Kansas children properly protected by a child safety seat, booster seat or seat belt. The BUCKLE UP program has been credited with 11 documented lives saved in the past two years. The program is the recipient of the Excellence in Accountability Award from the National SAFE KIDS Campaign and General Motors.

Fire
http://www.kdheks.gov/safekids/fire.html
Kansas' youngest children are at the greatest risk of fire death. They do not have a strong perception of danger, have less control of their environment and have a limited ability to react promptly and properly to a fire. 56% of Kansas child deaths due to unintentional fire/flame injuries are 0-4. A working smoke detector cuts your chances of dying in a fire by half. The Kansas Smoke Detector Act, enacted in July 1998, requires that all new and existing single-family residences have a working smoke detector on each level.

The GET ALARMED program is designed to increase the number of Kansas homes with young children that are equipped with working smoke detectors and carbon monoxide detectors. Participating communities distribute and install detectors and replacement batteries in low-income homes. A discount program for smoke detectors and carbon monoxide detectors is available to community groups through a partnership with First Alert.

Poison
http://www.kdheks.gov/safekids/poison.html
Young children constantly explore the world around them, touching and tasting everything they see. Their natural curiosity and tendency to put things in their mouths increases their risk of death from exposure to medicines and household products. Also, children are smaller, have faster metabolic rates and are less able to tolerate toxic chemicals, placing them at a significantly greater risk of poisoning than adults. Children are also poisoned by lead and carbon monoxide.

Poison centers nationwide provide an invaluable health service when poisonings occur. By safely managing approximately 75 percent of poisoning exposures in the home, poison centers eliminate thousands of needless and costly emergency room visits. According to the American Association of Poison Control Centers, every $1 spent on a poison center results in a $6 - $9 savings in overall health care costs. In 2002 alone, the Mid America Poison Control Center responded to over 26,000 calls from the State of Kansas and the Kansas City area.

If you suspect a child has swallowed something, check his or her mouth. Remove any remaining poison from the child’s mouth, then call the poison control center toll-free hotline, physician or other emergency medical services. When calling, bring the container of the ingested substance to the phone with you. Call even if you are not sure that the child was poisoned. The poison center staff or emergency personnel will determine if you need to do anything for the child. Do not give the child anything to treat the poison until you have consulted a poison control center or a health care professional. Vomiting can often aggravate the poisoning and cause even greater long-term damage. Poison control center: 800-222-1222.
Bicycles are associated with more childhood injuries than any other consumer product except the automobile. More than 70% of children ages 5-14 ride bicycles. On average, 168 Kansas children ages 0-14 die or are injured as a result of a pedal-cyclist crash in traffic each year. Head injury is the leading cause of death in bicycle crashes. Traumatic brain injuries occur in 45% of the hospitalizations for bicycle crash injuries. 48% of the children hospitalized for bike injuries are age 5-9 and 78% are male. Bike helmets have been shown to reduce the risk of head injury by 85% and the risk of brain injury by almost 90%. Unfortunately, it is estimated that only 15-25% of kids wear helmets. The good news is that a recent national survey of children age 8-12 found that they were more likely to wear a helmet if their parents make it a rule in their home, if there was a law or ordinance requiring helmet use, or if they knew someone who was badly hurt because they did not wear a helmet.

Fire Prevention and Safety
Program Description: Each year, the American Red Cross responds immediately to more than 70,000 disasters, including house or apartment fires (the majority of disaster responses), hurricanes, floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, hazardous materials spills, transportation accidents, explosions, and other natural and man-made disasters.

Red Cross disaster relief focuses on meeting people's immediate emergency disaster-caused needs. When a disaster threatens or strikes, the Red Cross provides shelter, food, and health and mental health services to address basic human needs. In addition to these services, the core of Red Cross disaster relief is the assistance given to individuals and families affected by disaster to enable them to resume their normal daily activities independently.

The Red Cross also feeds emergency workers, handles inquiries from concerned family members outside the disaster area, provides blood and blood products to disaster victims, and helps those affected by disaster to access other available resources.

Make Your Home Fire Safe

- Smoke alarms save lives. Install a smoke alarm outside each sleeping area and on each additional level of your home.
- If people sleep with doors closed, install smoke alarms inside sleeping areas, too.
- Use the test button to check each smoke alarm once a month. When necessary, replace batteries immediately. Replace all batteries at least once a year.
- Vacuum away cobwebs and dust from your smoke alarms monthly.
- Smoke alarms become less sensitive over time. Replace your smoke alarms every ten years.
- Consider having one or more working fire extinguishers in your home. Get training from the fire department in how to use them.
- Consider installing an automatic fire sprinkler system in your home.

Plan Your Escape Routes

- Determine at least two ways to escape from every room of your home.
- Consider escape ladders for sleeping areas on the second or third floor. Learn how to use them and store them near the window.
- Select a location outside your home where everyone would meet after escaping.
- Practice your escape plan at least twice a year.

Escape Safety

- Once you are out, stay out! Call the fire department from a neighbor's home.
- If you see smoke or fire in your first escape route, use your second way out. If you must exit through smoke, crawl low under the smoke to your exit.
- If you are escaping through a closed door, feel the door before opening it. If it is warm, use your second way out.
• If smoke, heat, or flames block your exit routes, stay in the room with the door closed. Signal for help using a bright-colored cloth at the window. If there is a telephone in the room, call the fire department and tell them where you are.

Your local Red Cross can provide educational/additional materials in both English and Spanish

Program Description: The Burnett Burn Center, named for Gene and Barbara Burnett, opened its doors July 2, 1973. In 1981, an outpatient dressing change area was constructed, thanks to a gift from the Kansas City Power and Light Company. Since opening, the Burn Center and its staff have been dedicated to providing comprehensive care to severely burned adult and pediatric patients. Mani M. Mani, MD, former medical director, envisioned a burn center focused not simply on patient survival, but on improving the quality of a patient's life.

Now the new Burn Center is three times larger than the original facility. It provides comprehensive care with private rooms, an on-site surgical suite and outpatient clinic, waiting area, and private consultation room. In addition, the Burn Center now features the Hurlbut Recovery Pavilion, named for David Hurlbut, who realized the need for family centered care from personal experience. The pavilion was designed with patients and their families in mind by including a lounge with entertainment, kitchen facilities, children's playroom, rehabilitation room, scrub and locker rooms and a home-training bathroom. All of these amenities, in addition to the state-of-the-art equipment and excellence in burn care, distinguish the KU Medical Center Burnett Burn Center from any other in the country.

The Burnett Burn Center is one of only 127 burn centers across the country, and is the only burn center to care for both adult and pediatric burn patients in the region.

Additional Services Available:

- Burn Team
- Patient Referral
- Outpatient Burn Care
- Support Groups
- Community Outreach
- Hurlbut Recovery Pavilion; former patient creates oasis of recovery

Program Description: The Office of the State Fire Marshal is organized into four divisions: Hazardous Materials, Investigation, Prevention, and Youth Programs. Each division focuses on a specific aspect of fire loss. The Prevention and Youth Programs Divisions work to prevent accidental fires from beginning. Hazardous Materials focuses on the actual response to emergencies by training and supporting response teams throughout the state. The Investigations Division determines the origin and cause of fires, aiding in the prosecution of arsonists and seeking out new or unknown fire hazards. The programs under these divisions include plans review, licensing, enforcement, fireworks and explosives, bomb detection and identification, accelerant detection, public education, firefighter training, information technology, and a video lending library.

The agency maintains the Kansas Fire Incident Reporting System (KFIRS). This is a state-wide data collection system for fire and emergency incidents. After a fire department responds to an emergency scene, a KFIRS report is submitted to the State Fire Marshal's Office. These reports are then submitted to the National Fire Incident Reporting System (NFIRS). KFIRS reports include information on incident type, responding personnel, equipment and resources used, and firefighter injuries or fatalities.

The Office of the Kansas State Fire Marshal also maintains two other databases: the Kansas Burn Injury Reporting System and the Kansas Insurance Loss Reporting System. Hospitals across Kansas are required to submit notification to this agency when patients have received burns over 20% of their entire body. This information aids in fire prevention and investigation. Insurance companies are required to submit a report for every insurance loss over $500 due to fire. This database helps reveal the scope of economic loss due to fire within the state of Kansas.

Fire Prevention Division:
http://www.ksfm.ks.gov/prevention/

The Fire Prevention Division of the Kansas State Fire Marshal's Office works to reduce the potential impact of fire and explosion hazards where people live, work, and congregate (other than one and two family dwellings). The Fire Prevention Division focuses on facilities posing distinct fire hazards and those places where the potential loss of life from fire is very high, including structures where the very young and very old live and congregate. We inspect day cares, child care centers, foster care, schools, colleges, universities, prisons, jails, residential board and care homes, hospitals, and other institutions as well as above-ground fuel storage and liquid petroleum gas facilities. The Fire Prevention Division consists of 13 field inspectors, two enforcement officers, four fire protection specialists, two administrative support personnel, and the division chief. Both the Regular Inspectors and Health Care Inspectors have an assigned territory.

The division is responsible not just for fire safety features within many different types of buildings and facilities; it’s also responsible for the promotion of fire safety and the education of building owners, operators and occupants, and the general public. Both office and field personnel are active educators and presenters.

Investigation Division:
http://www.ksfm.ks.gov/investigation/

The Investigation Division of the Kansas State Fire Marshal's Office is comprised of two units: the Fire
Investigation Unit and the Explosives Unit. The Fire Investigations Unit provides experienced fire investigators to assist local fire departments and law enforcement agencies in the investigation of fires and explosions. This assistance is provided when a request is made by the local jurisdiction. The investigators conduct criminal investigations when the incident is determined to be criminal in nature, such as arson.

Investigators with the Kansas State Fire Marshal's Office are sworn law enforcement officers and carry out all aspects of criminal investigations, including the arrest and conviction of arsonists. The Investigation Division conducts polygraph examinations in relation to these criminal investigations.

The investigators are also active educators across the state, teaching courses on various topics including fires, explosives, investigation techniques, and criminal procedures. The unit has one accelerant canine team to assist with fire investigation.

The Fire Investigation Unit also certifies fire investigators for local fire departments. This certification allows investigators to have law enforcement authority when conducting fire investigations. There are currently two certification levels: CFI I and CFI II.

The Explosive Unit manages the program dealing with explosive and fireworks licenses and permits for the State of Kansas. One investigator is assigned to this unit and conducts explosive storage site inspections and complaint-driven civil and criminal investigations. The investigator associated with this unit - as well as the investigators under the Fire Investigation Unit - respond to pre- and post-blast incidents. Explosive safety, awareness, and investigative classes are conducted for both the public safety community and the private explosive industry.

The Investigation Division maintains investigative files and databases for investigations and both explosive and fireworks licensing. The division utilizes the NCIC system for background checks on all explosive and fireworks licensing applications. The Investigation Division works and cooperates with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (BATFE) and the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) in reference to investigations, data sharing, and licensing.

Hazardous Material Division
http://www.ksfm.ks.gov/hazmat/

The Hazardous Materials Division of the State Fire Marshal's Office was developed in 1999 to enhance the safety of Kansans by making trained, equipped hazardous materials teams available throughout the state. These teams support local first responders in hazardous materials incidents, accidents, and acts of terrorism.

The Haz-Mat Division is also able to coordinate with other state agencies for training and actual hazardous materials/terrorism response. Strong ties exist between the State Fire Marshal's Office, the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, the Kansas Division of Emergency Management, the Kansas Highway Patrol, and the Civil Support Team. Each agency has different capabilities, teams and strengths. Unity and cooperation between these agencies provides Kansas with a more thorough and cost effective solution to terrorism and hazardous materials response.

The Haz-Mat teams exist through contracts between individual local fire departments and the State Fire Marshal's Office. The fire departments agree to provide team members and regional response outside their local jurisdiction and the State Fire Marshal's Office provides training and equipment at no cost to the department. The State Fire Marshal's Office also reimburses all costs associated with actual haz-mat responses.
The thirteen regional response teams, consisting of nationally accredited hazardous materials technicians, are fully equipped to enter the area immediately surrounding the hazardous material in order to monitor the environment and mitigate the incident. The regional response teams comprise a network and are able to support each other with personnel and equipment when needed. These teams can respond to most areas in Kansas within an hour or less in order to address Haz-mat incidents and accidents as well as terrorist events involving chemical, biological, radiological, or nuclear (CBRN) products.

Youth Programs Y-Fire (Youth-Fire Safety)
http://www.kdheks.gov/y-fire/about_yfire.htm
The Youth Programs Division of the Kansas State Fire Marshal's Office was created to help prevent children from starting fires and to intervene with youths known to have started fires. Youth Programs supports Y-FIRE coalitions across the state and also provides resources and materials for parents, teachers, childcare providers, and fire service personnel. Youth fire setting can be prevented when parents, teachers, firefighters and law enforcement authorities become aware of the problem and work together to find solutions. Establishing a positive, proactive program like Y-FIRE can make a difference in your community!
Program Description: A separate outpatient treatment area just inside the main entrance to the Burn Center allows patients with minor injuries, or those requiring treatment following inpatient stays, to receive treatments. Emphasis is placed on teaching the patient and family so that they can perform wound care at home if desired.

Burn team

Patients with burns, multiple trauma or serious wounds require a specialized team to work with the patient and family, coordinating all aspects of care. Our team consists of physicians who are experts in burns and trauma, nurses and patient care technicians, social workers, case managers, chaplains, dieticians, and therapists. All Burn Center nurses are certified in Advanced Burn Life Support (ABLS), Trauma Nurse Core Course (TNCC), Emergency Nurse Pediatric Course (ENPC), and Advanced Cardiac Life Support (ACLS) within one year of hire.

24-hour physician consultation

Burn physicians are available to answer questions or accept referrals at any time by calling the Burn Center at (316) 268-5388 or the Via Christi switchboard, 316-268-7000.

Outreach education and prevention

Almost every burn can be prevented. Members of the Burn Team are actively involved in community prevention education, state and national legislative initiatives, and other activities to decrease the incidence of burns. We collaborate with other organizations including Wichita Area SAFE KIDS, Sedgwick County Fire Department, Wichita Fire Department, Boeing Fire Department and McConnell Fire Department. Burn Center educators are available to present educational workshops in the community relating to pre-hospital or hospital management of burns. Continuing education programs are designed to meet the educational needs of the community. Call (316) 268-5292 for more information.
Highways, Roads, & Turnpikes
Program Description: The AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety is dedicated to saving lives and reducing injuries on the roads. It is not-for-profit, publicly supported charitable educational and research organization. Since 1947, the Foundation has funded over 200 projects designed to discover the causes of traffic crashes, prevent them and minimize injuries when they do occur. Through use of research – development of focused, high-impact educational materials for drivers, pedestrians, bicyclists and other road users have been made.

Safer Roads Through Education
Research is only the beginning. The Foundation uses its research to create focused, high-impact educational materials for all age groups. Knowledge is the first step to becoming a better driver. The Foundation's studies have shown that understanding the risks of driving and one's own limitations can prevent crashes. The Foundation's materials seek to give drivers new skills, sharpen old ones, and change attitudes, as the first step to changing behaviors. Other materials teach pedestrian safety to minimize the risks of injury.

Designed to Fit Any Curriculum
Scores of school districts and adult driver training courses throughout the country use the Foundation's 55 videotapes. The videos and their accompanying written materials are designed with key input from researchers to ensure that the materials meet the needs of the public. Each tape focuses on one concept or group of concepts, making it easier for educators to include the tapes in their curricula and for students to remember key points. For example, our driver training video, "Getting Safely Past the Orange Barrels," is only 14 minutes long and focuses on one, high-risk area of driving: how to drive safely through road construction zones. The Foundation's award winning CD-ROM, called driver-ZED (Zero Error Driving) teaches teens how to scan the environment and hone critical risk management skills.

Program Description: From 1984 through 2000, Kansas saw a significant decline in alcohol-related crash fatalities (from a high of 224 in 1986 to a low of 74 in 1993). The all-time low in 1993 comprised 16.02% of all crash fatalities. Among drivers under 21, the number of alcohol-related crash fatalities has ranged from 26 (1990) to 12 (1995), the all-time low.

Alcohol-related crash fatalities among drivers age 21 represent about 21% of all alcohol-related crash fatalities over the past nine years. In addition, 67% of high school students report they drink alcohol at least yearly, 21% percent report that they drink at least weekly, and 65% report that they think their chances of getting caught by the police while drinking and driving are low to non-existent. In fact, 22% of high school students report that, in the past month, they have ridden with a drinking driver on at least one occasion.

Goals & Objectives

- Prevent driving tragedies throughout Kansas
- Provide a networking system of public information and education, training, and community traffic safety projects
  - Serve as a resource center highlighting impaired driving issues and materials
- Provide technical assistance and evaluation services to the Bureau of Traffic Safety and the citizens of Kansas
  - A primary focus of the program was to develop a system to STOP Underage Drinking through multiple campaign activities such as providing: server training for employees of retail liquor establishments; Cops in Shops; using victim panels in youth and adult education forums; and providing easy, enjoyable, yet meaningful traffic safety activities for Kansas high school students.
- Other activities included developing and distributing impaired driving literature and promotional materials for driver education students and their parents, elementary and junior high students, bars, clubs, law enforcement, and the general public.
- The program also conducts training and undertakes other specific projects, including providing technical assistance related to community and professional education.

Program Description: The Kansas Safety Belt Education Office (KSBEO) is contracted by the Kansas Department of Transportation to promote occupant protection in the state of Kansas. With a primary focus on saving lives and reducing injuries, KSBEO encourages Kansans to buckle up and travel safely on every ride. To measure statewide compliance, KSBEO also conducts an annual safety belt usage study which involves over 548 survey sites. Additionally, KSBEO aims to increase awareness about Child Passenger Safety, airbags, and other occupant protection devices through educational classes, seminars, and programming.

To accomplish these goals, KSBEO often partners with outside sources including law enforcement agencies, Emergency Medical Services, primary and secondary schools, Health Departments, safety coalitions, and others. Each year, KSBEO reaches a variety of audiences; ranging from children in schools, to adults in the workplace, with a combination of public information, educational programming and community awareness efforts. KSBEO materials, including free promotional items, brochures, fact sheets, and The Pulse, a quarterly newsletter related to occupant protection; are also distributed statewide.

Program Description: The 236-mile Kansas Turnpike was constructed during 1955 and 1956 as a toll facility providing a modern highway through Kansas for the benefit of all motorists without increasing the tax burden of Kansas residents. Unlike most highways, motorists pay for the Turnpike construction and operation only when they drive on it, since there is no tax dollars used for the toll road.

The Turnpike was completed in a record 22 months. When the Turnpike first opened to traffic, there were 14 interchanges. The Turnpike currently has 21 interchanges for entry and exit where U.S. or Interstate highways intersect its alignment. Otherwise, its limited access is a safety plus, and a minimum of stop and go situations are time, fuel and money-savings factors.

The Kansas Legislature authorized the Turnpike Authority to sell bonds to private investors to pay for financing and construction costs of the tollway. The costs include all expenses of the Turnpike Division of the Kansas Highway Patrol. The Authority receives no tax funds to meet the costs of Turnpike operations.

Advisories and Alerts
For weather and traffic information, tune into the KTA Travel Advisory Radio, broadcast on 1610 AM from Wellington to Kansas City. There are now apps that can be downloaded to any smart phone.

Slow Down & Move Over
The Kansas Legislature passed laws during the 2000 session to help protect the lives of law enforcement officers and other emergency responders routinely working alongside Kansas’ roadways. These laws require drivers traveling on multi-lane roadways and who are approaching a stationary vehicle displaying flashing warning lights to slow down and move over if it is safe to do so. They also prohibit drivers traveling on two lane roadways from overtaking or passing another vehicle within 100 feet of a stopped emergency vehicle displaying flashing warning lights.

Emergency Phone Numbers
Help is only a phone call away for cellular phone users when traveling on the Kansas Turnpike. By dialing *(STAR) K-T-A from a cellular phone, callers will be connected to Kansas Turnpike Authority dispatchers to report emergencies. Travelers that do not have cellular phones will be able to use this emergency assistance system by dialing 1-800-827-PIKE (1-800-827-7453). These callers will also be connected to the KTA dispatchers.

If you have a cellular phone, report emergency situations only, such as: an accident, erratic driver, disabled vehicle, customers needing assistance, or hazardous objects on the roadway. Highway Patrol assistance is available 24 hours a day.

Remember, in any emergency situation stay off the roadway and away from traffic and dial *(STAR) K-T-A from your car.

K-Tag
K-Tag is the Kansas Turnpike Authority’s electronic tolling program. Using a K-Tag allows drivers to use the Turnpike without stopping to pay a toll. K-Tags can be purchased online or at a retail location near the Turnpike.

Remember, there is no Excuse for...Driving Drunk
No Excuse for... not having a Designated Driver
No Excuse for...not taking the keys from a friend who has had too much to drink
Program Description: Imagine that every day for the next year, a fully-loaded, 110-passenger jetliner crashes, taking the lives of everyone on board. By the end of the year, more than 40,000 people would die. Predictably, the public would get upset…and would be demanding some kind of action.

That’s exactly what happens on our nation’s highways: Nearly 40,000 people die in traffic crashes each and every year in the United States. In airplane crashes, a mechanical malfunction of the airplane itself is frequently at fault; passengers have little control. But in a vehicle on the roadway, people have a lot of control. Yet, the tragic fact is most crashes occur as a result of driver error. Safety experts estimate 92% of all fatalities are caused by human error.

Each year, in Kansas alone, more than 450 people lose their lives and more than 30,000 are seriously injured. To reduce this senseless loss of life and thousands of serious injuries, drivers need to realize their behavior and attitudes are major parts of the solution. The Kansas Department of Transportation are dedicated to doing our part by providing quality roads, clear signage, and safe bridges. You, as a driver, need to do your part as well.

Campaign Components:

- Back to basics elements that reinforce the fundamental rules of the road, such as how to deal with mechanical breakdowns, and adjusting speed and driving techniques to changing weather and road-surface conditions.
- Specific driving situations commonly found in Kansas, including merging on high-speed freeways and making room for large, slow-moving farm vehicles on rural two-lane roads.
- Attention to growing problems, such as aggressive driving, drowsiness, and driver inattention. “Kansas Driving: Safe. Not Sorry” materials will caution drivers about distractions ranging from cellular phones and hand-held computers to bad habits that have distracted drivers for decades, such as eating, reading, or applying make-up while driving.

Program Description: SMART, Inc. is a non-profit educational program that provides motorcycle rider education in Topeka, Kansas using curriculum developed by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation (MSF) and taught by MSF approved RiderCoaches. The program provides training for beginning and experienced riders.

What is S.M.A.R.T.?
SMART, Inc. is a non-profit educational program that provides motorcycle rider education using curriculum developed by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation (MSF) and taught by MSF certified RiderCoaches. The program provides training for beginning riders in the Basic Rider Course (BRC) and for experienced riders in the Experienced Rider Course (ERC). In addition to rider education, SMART, Inc. also emphasizes motorcycle awareness. We accomplish this task by providing literature and information to the public while participating in safety fairs and other community events and motorcycle events sponsored by various motorcycle groups. The program also seeks to increase the awareness of motorcycles by all vehicle operators by providing an orientation to motorcycling using a program developed by MSF called "Sharing the Road." "Sharing the Road" is a short program that may be presented to individuals enrolled in driver's education programs or to other community groups.

SMART, Inc. Mission
The Mission of Smart Motorcyclists Attend Rider Training, Inc. (SMART, Inc.) is to reduce the number of accident-involved motorcyclists in the state of Kansas. This is accomplished by providing quality rider education to motorcyclists in order to increase their mental and physical skills, and by increasing the awareness of motorcycles by the general public who share the streets and highways of our state.
Program Description: Unintentional injury and violence comprise one of seven statewide public health priorities in Kansas. To prevent injuries, the state must assess the context in which injuries occur, analyze trends and related factors, develop policy based on sound science, and educate the Kansas community about the serious nature of injuries as well as proven interventions for prevention. The Kansas Injury Prevention Steering Committee, representing a wide range of Kansas organizations and government agencies, has identified 14 injury issues for state injury prevention efforts. These injury issues include both specific injury areas and circumstances that predispose Kansans to injury. The state capacity-planning document describes these 14 injury issues and identifies one to two long-term Kansas specific objectives for each.

On the Job
Program Description: The Department of Labor was created by 2004 Executive Order Number 31. Prior to that time, the department was named the Kansas Department of Human Resources. KDOL is administered under the direction and supervision of the secretary of labor who is appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate. KDOL has many important responsibilities. The agency administers the unemployment insurance program and processes claims for unemployment benefits. KDOL operates the state’s workers’ compensation system and enforces Kansas employment standards including wage and hour laws and child labor laws. The agency also houses a research unit that compiles critical data on employment in Kansas.

Public Service Unit

Under state law K.S.A. 44-636, the Industrial Safety & Health Section monitors the public sector (cities, counties, municipalities and school districts) by performing safety and health audits to identify hazards in the workplace to which public employees are exposed pertaining to workers compensation.

Consultation Unit

The state of Kansas has a contract with the federal Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA) which allows state employees to provide a free consultation service. The consultation program (funded 90 percent by the federal government) provides assistance to employers by helping them recognize, evaluate, and control hazards in the workplace. The program is offered on a voluntary basis, without citations or penalties. All information is confidential.

The state of Kansas offers an incentive program, the Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP), for employers to become recognized as an exceptionally safe worksite in Kansas.

Accident Prevention Unit

This unit monitors the effectiveness of the accident prevention insurance evaluation program by auditing businesses in Kansas to determine if the workers compensation carrier has provided information to the businesses as required under K.S.A. 44-5,104.

Boiler Safety Inspection Unit

This section is responsible for the inspection of all boilers used in private or public businesses. There are regular and special inspections, and this unit also monitors the manufacturers of boilers.
Program Description: OSHA’s mission is to assure the safety and health of America’s workers by setting and enforcing standards; providing training, outreach, and education; establishing partnerships; and encouraging continual improvement in workplace safety and health.

Services: OSHA and its state partners have approximately 2100 inspectors, plus complaint discrimination investigators, engineers, physicians, educators, standards writers, and other technical and support personnel spread over more than 200 offices throughout the country. This staff establishes protective standards, enforces those standards, and reaches out to employers and employees through technical assistance and consultation programs.

Those Served: Nearly every workingman and woman in the nation comes under OSHA’s jurisdiction (with some exceptions such as miners, transportation workers, many public employees, and the self-employed). Other users and recipients of OSHA services include: occupational safety and health professionals, the academic community, lawyers, journalists, and personnel of other government entities.

OSHA is determined to use its limited resources effectively to stimulate management commitment and employee participation in comprehensive workplace safety and health programs.

Surveying Public At OSHA, we are dedicated to improving the quality of our efforts and know that to be successful we must become an agency that is driven by commitment to public service. The first step is for OSHA to listen and respond to its customers. Accordingly, we conducted a survey to learn more about what employers and employees think of OSHA’s services.

Because workplace inspections are one of OSHA’s principal activities and because voluntary efforts to improve working conditions ultimately depend on strong enforcement, our survey focused primarily on the inspection process. We asked a random sample of employees and employers who had recently experienced an OSHA inspection what they thought of the inspection in particular, and of OSHA’s standards and educational and other assistance activities in general.

Service Standards: We based OSHA’s new standards for public service on what we learned from the survey, from meetings with employee and employer groups, and from focus group discussions with workers from many plants and industries across the country.

Railroad
Program Description: "Operation Lifesaver" is a nationwide, non-profit public safety education and outreach program designed to eliminate collisions, deaths and injuries at rail crossings and rights-of-way. Kansas joined Operation Lifesaver in 1974. Operation Lifesaver is now an international program and is supported by national and state organizations, as well as the railroads.

What is Operation Lifesaver, Inc.?

Operation Lifesaver is a national non-profit, continuing public education program designed to end collisions, deaths, and injuries at places where roadways cross train tracks, and on railroad rights-of-way.

To meet its lifesaving goals, Operation Lifesaver programs promote public awareness of the highway-rail crossing environment and encourage compliance with the traffic laws relating to crossing signs and signals, as well as the private property laws related to rail trespassing.

How does Operation Lifesaver accomplish its lifesaving goals?

Operation Lifesaver's trained and certified volunteer speakers provide FREE safety presentations for various professions and for all age groups in order to increase public safety around railroad tracks. Educational brochures, videos, coloring books for children and training information can be found at the National OLI's www.oli.org.

More information about Operation Lifesaver and how to become better informed about rail safety

State Coordinators are available to help you become better informed about highway-rail grade crossing safety and rail trespass prevention. Contact your State Coordinator to arrange for a presentation. FREE presentations are given to any group including civic groups, students, professional drivers, motorists, emergency responders, businesses and others who live or travel near train tracks.

Sporting-Hunting & Fishing
Program Description: IHEA is the official organization representing the interests of 69 state, provincial, and federal hunter education coordinators, and 70,000 hunter education instructors who teach hunter safety, ethics, and conservation to approximately 750,000 students each year.

State fish and game agencies began offering hunter safety programs in 1949. Since then, more than 35 million people have been certified. The hunter safety program has grown, and it is now known as the Hunter Education Program. Hunter safety is still a primary concern, but hunter ethics, wildlife management, survival, and other topics are important parts of the course as well.

Hunter education has helped in many ways. Hunting incidents have declined dramatically, hunter behavior has improved, and many species of wildlife have been restored to abundance with hunter’s dollars.

If you are a new hunter, or want to learn about firearms and gun safety, you have come to the right site. IHEA member agencies also offer programs for experienced hunters who want to become more proficient hunters and conservationists.

Thanks to hunter education and the use of hunter orange; hunting is safe and getting safer.

Kansas ATV Association

Program Description: The Kansas All-Terrain Vehicle Association (KATVA) began March 1987 with nine individuals concerned about ATV Safety and the BAD RAP that the three-wheelers were getting from the press. They couldn't have ever imagined that the KATVA would grow into an active club with over 250 enthusiastic members and still going strong many years later.

Road Vehicle) areas, but the Corps of Engineers had four ATV/Motorcycle riding areas and one ORV area in Kansas. With limited public riding areas the KATVA set out to do something about it. In the Spring of 1988 the KATVA began working with the project manager at Lake Perry to expand the ATV/Motorcycle riding area. The small eighteen acres at Lake Perry was increased to almost two-hundred acres. KATVA members eager for new areas to ride put in many hours building fences, posting signs, painting toilets, improving creek crossings and clearing trails. Lake Perry is now one of the most ridden public areas in Kansas.

The KATVA has always made riding safety the number one priority of the club. Nonmembers are often surprised to see such a large group (KATVA) riding with safety gear (helmet, over the ankle boots, long pants and shirt, goggles etc). This required use of safety gear has resulted in many years and many members being injury free.

In the beginning the KATVA adopted two slogans; "Protecting our right to ride" and "Family fun with safety number one." The KATVA will continue to live up to those slogans by helping keep open existing riding areas and being a “Safe” family oriented non profit club.

Kansas ATV Association Pledge

Program Description: The department operates five regional offices. Each office supervises the fisheries, wildlife, law enforcement, and parks staff within their region. These offices are valuable contacts for constituents seeking information about resources and staff in their regions. The Office of the Secretary, in Topeka, houses the office of KDWP Secretary and various administrative and legislative staff. The Pratt Operations Office, near Pratt, houses the offices of division directors of the Fisheries and Wildlife, Administrative Services, Law Enforcement, and Parks divisions. This office oversees staff who manage game, fish, nongame, and threatened and endangered species statewide. The Pratt office is also home to the department's Information & Education Section, which produces Kansas Wildlife & Parks magazine, brochures, news, and various educational programs. The KDWP website is also maintained from this office. The Emporia Research & Survey Office is responsible for fish and wildlife research. The Kansas City District Office handles requests and materials for this highly populated area.

KDWP currently manages 24 state parks across the state and the Prairie Spirit Trail. Most provide utility and primitive camping, and access to reservoirs, trails, and wildlife areas. Many parks host annual events such as concerts, festivals, and competitions.

KDWP operates four museums/nature centers: the Great Plains Nature Center in Wichita, the Milford Nature Center near Junction City, the Prairie Center in Lenexa, and the Pratt Education Center next to the Pratt Operations Office near the city of Pratt. These education centers display wildlife dioramas, native fish tanks, and various educational wildlife exhibits. In addition, the centers offer public programs on an ongoing basis and by request.

Kansas has four fish hatcheries, at Meade, Farlington, Milford, and Pratt. These hatcheries are responsible for producing some 44 million sportfish annually for stocking in public waters across the state. Species include channel catfish; largemouth, smallmouth, and spotted bass; striped bass and wipers; and walleye, saugeye, and sauger.

For hunters, birdwatchers, and other wildlife enthusiasts, KDWP boasts 63 wildlife areas, ranging in size from less than one hundred acres to nearly 20,000 acres. In addition, the federal government operates eight wildlife refuges. These areas harbor game species such as deer, turkey, pheasant, waterfowl, quail, squirrel, and rabbit, as well furbearing animals, including raccoon, badger, bobcat, opossum, fox, and muskrat. Hundreds of songbird species also may be observed at different times of the year.

KDWP offers anglers and boaters both state fishing lakes and federal reservoirs. State fishing lakes are smaller bodies of water, anywhere from two acres to nearly 350 acres, managed primarily for fishing only. Most of these waters do not allow skiing or swimming. The state's federal reservoirs, ranging in size from 1,200 acres to 16,000 acres, offer fishing, boating, and swimming. Most federal reservoirs are also home to a state park, as well as a state or federal wildlife area, or both.
